New Taiwan ETF Market Regulations-IOSCO

- Taiwan regulator would like to follow the guidelines of IOSCO to supervise and manage the ETF market.
- IOSCO includes 4 aspects and 11 measures :
 - 1. Effective Product Structuring (6 measures)
 - 2. Disclosure (3 measures)
 - 3. Liquidity Provisions (1 measure)
 - 4. Volatility Control Mechanisms (1 measure)

FSC Implemented 6 ETF Regulatory Measures

- Taiwan's Financial Supervisory Commission (FSC) recently implemented six regulatory measures aimed at enhancing product structure, improving data transparency, and increasing liquidity for ETFs.
- The new measures follow FSC's press release in November last year, which highlighted potential product and market risks associated with ETFs, and the introduction of "special financial inspections" for ETFs in January.

New requirement of high dividend ETF operation

- In Taiwan, there are some ETFs set up income equalization mechanism. The purpose of this mechanism prevent new investors from diluting the dividends of existing investors.
- AUM and beneficiaries of Taiwan high dividend equity ETFs have keeping hitting a record high, so FSC would like to tighten this trend.

Taiwan ETFs hit record NT$340bn

'SWARM OF BEES': Central bank Governor Yang Chin-long last week described the enthusiasm for exchange-traded funds as a “herding effect” in the market

Staff writer, with Bloomberg

A record rally in Taiwanese stocks is luring retail investors to pile into exchange-traded funds (ETFs), as local regulators stepped up warnings on the herding behavior.

Two new stock ETFs this month raised a combined NT$223.1 billion (US$7.05 billion), with the latest one which ended subscriptions on Friday last week setting a new record.

This brings the total inflows into equity ETFs to about NT$340 billion, more than half of last year's, underscoring how the global market frenzy around artificial intelligence (AI) is spurring local demand for exposure to a technology-heavy market.
